Beaujolais Nouveau at CiboDivino

Sat Nov 18, 2017 12:00PM - 5:00PM

CiboDivino Marketplace will host a celebration in coordination with the French Beaujolais Nouveau event. The Dallas event will feature French bites from chef Daniele Puleo, Ryan Olmos and neighboring chef Julien Eelsen of Whisk Crepes Cafe as well as live music, French-themed entertainment and glasses of the famed Beaujolais Nouveau.

The tradition occurs annually in France to praise the arrival of the year's crop of Beaujolais Nouveau wine, an easy-to-drink, red wine with a bright and fruity composition, typically served chilled. The wine is hand-picked from the Beaujolais region of France and then released at exactly 12:01 a.m. on the third Thursday in November.

Join CiboDivino Marketplace and Sylvan Thirty in celebrating this classic event. Hungry guests can expect to see French-inspired bites such as customizable crepes with toppings like lemon, Nutella and various fruits as well as a mini charcuterie station, Mini Croque Monsieur and more. Activities and food will be sold on a ticketed basis which can be purchased at the event.
